

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Now is the season of the year, with the coming of the rains, that our leading citizens mope about, telling the world in general that "god" could do me better."

But at the same time, this is rushing business for the drug store owners.

Clara Bow is in the news-light again. It seems that poor Clara just has a terrible time trying to keep out of the papers.

There is one person who will always be given publicity... and that is Lindbergh.

And it is all due to the fact that he would not allow himself to be exploited.

After one sees what becomes of some of these characters who are in the public eye for a short time, one doesn't blame Lindbergh.

Most of the alleged "famous" characters fly over the Atlantic or swim some silly place or other and return to New York where they are given a parade down Broadway.

They are then introduced to the president and take on a publicity man.

From then on they endorse cigarettes, cigars, face powder, vanishing cream, new suits, vests, coats and what have you.

For months one cannot turn the pages of a national magazine without bumping into the face of the "famous hero" who wears a silly grin and is saying, "I smoke El Ropo, because I can't reach."

Down in the last column you'll find the same person's picture... this time endorsing corn plasters.

By this time the public is getting fed up on the hero and he's promptly dropped for somebody else.

Life was ever thus.

This was given to us for what it's worth.

At a certain Oakland high school the other day, the class was studying trade and industry.

"Where is industry located in California?" the teacher asked.

"In Richmond!" the class replied.

When asked why, the class became embroiled in a friendly argument.

As the result, a number of pupils formed a committee to study why "Richmond is Industry's Western Goal."

This story was vouched for by one of the students.

Getting back to the weather... what would we do without it... Mark Twain once made a famous remark about it.

Hold everything—that isn't the one we're thinking about.

The famous author stated that in California, one can't get rain for love, but that one prayed for it... and after it started to rain, one wished that it would stop.

Chandler Will Attend Hearing

Richmond will be represented at the railroad commission hearing at Long Beach, which will be held October 9 to hear evidence concerning rates of water carriers between the north and the south.

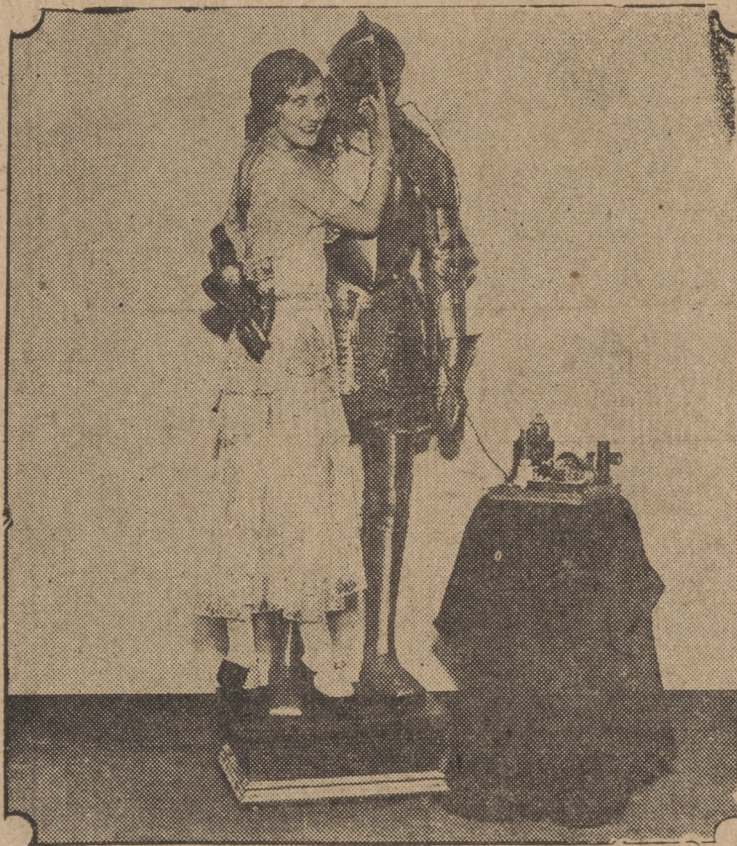

Upon the recommendation of W. W. Scott, chairman of the traffic committee, directors of the chamber of commerce authorized Frank Chandler, a member of the committee, to represent the chamber and look after the interests of this city.

"Richmond industries must be protected," said Scott. "It is important that any rates made effective between San Francisco and the south, or vice versa, shall be made applicable also from this city."

Attack On Assistant D. A. Investigated

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Police today started an investigation into the beating administered to Assistant District Attorney M. S. Silver, 1842 Jefferson street early this morning.

Silver was dragged from his machine at Broadway and Grant avenue by two men, who were later booked and held for investigation. They gave their names as John Ellis and Esquel Fuentes.

The police are working on the theory that the attack was a "grudge" attack instigated by gangsters whom the prosecutor had indicted.

Silver stated that he was seated in his car when the two men came up to him, dragged him out of his machine and started to beat and kick him. His cries were heard by a nearby patrolman, who rushed to his aid.

Silver is at his home, under the care of a physician.

The company has finished moving 1,750,000 cubic yards of material at a cost of $153,000, and is the second company to finish a contract, the Hydraulic Dredging company having completed its contract Thursday.

The Hydraulic company dredged the Suisun Bay portion of the channel.

40 FARMS IN FIRE PATH

PHILLIPS, Wis., Sept. 24.—UP—Seven hundred smoke-blackened men battled forest fires in Price county tonight in a valiant effort to save thousands of acres of virgin timber.

Almost 10,000 acres of forest already were blazing. A strong wind and lack of rain sent the flames raging onward while the fire-fighters struggled through the smoke chopping clearings, digging ditches and setting back-fires.

About 300 men finally managed to check one fire when it had crept to within 400 yards of Boyd's hotel on Mason lake. Eight miles north 300 more men struggled to save 40 farms threatened near Kaiser. Back-firing proved effective at first, but a high southwest wind late today began to hamper the work.

Smaller fires kept volunteers busy at half a dozen towns while a blaze on the outskirts of Phillips brought 75 citizens to the lines.

Opium Cache Hunted On Ship

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 24.—UP—Working on a tip from a member of the crew, a force of customs officers were searching the States line steamer Illinois late today in an attempt to locate 20 pounds of opium believed hidden aboard the ship.

Harry Trowbridge, chief inspector, declared the opium that custom men believe Chinese members of the crew hid aboard the ship was worth about $4000.

According to Trowbridge, the tip came from a Russian member of the crew, whose name he would not divulge. He said the Russian reported that he had become involved in a fight with several Chinese when he had tried to gain possession of a package one of them had been carrying. The Russian said the Chinese had offered him money for the package.

The Illinois arrived Saturday night from China, Japan and the Philippines.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—UP—So many crusades, wars, drives, battles, investigations and campaigns against gangsters raged in Chicago tonight that the battle-browed gentry hardly dared to stick their heads outdoors for fear of getting arrested.

And even when they stayed quietly inside, in bed, police dragged them out, to face one court or another. Johnny Genaro, notorious free lance gunman, for instance, was pulled from his peaceful slumbers by raiding detectives who hustled him to jail where he will await trial as a vagrant.

Another of the city's "public enemies" Frank "Duke" Battaglia, went out for a stroll. Detectives sighted him, hustled him to court and the first thing he knew, Judge John H. Lyle had sentenced him to a year's imprisonment and had fined him $300 for carrying a pistol.

A county grand jury continued its deliberations concerning racketeers while a federal grand jury was organized to hear reported sensational evidence about an alleged "underworld ball trust" organized to get criminal cohorts of "Scarface" Ralph Capone out of jail almost as soon as they got in.

Federal agents summoned 11 witnesses to testify concerning reports that Ralph Capone, brother of "Scarface" was the backer of a bail bond concern accused of having "cornered" the band business in the United States commissioner's court.

Court records revealed that the John T. Lynn agency, representing the Grand Central Surety company of New York, since April 4 had supplied bonds totaling $408,650 in 233 cases. The concern also issued in the county criminal courts bonds totaling $330,000.

CITY WINS PARITY FIGHT

Richmond, now on an equality with all the other bay cities as regards steamship service to American ports on both coasts, has become the logical gateway from interior California and is destined to develop rapidly as a port of the first importance.

This was the opinion expressed yesterday at the meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce when the traffic committee headed by W. W. Scott formally reported that steamer lines have now placed Richmond on a parity with all the other bay cities for large and small cargoes.

P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber, summarized the situation saying:

"The shippers of the City of Richmond and vicinity are now assured, for the first time, steamship rates from the port of Richmond to all the ports of the United States and Canada, from Vancouver on the Pacific, to Portland Maine, on the Atlantic, all on an equality with other ports on San Francisco bay."

All restrictions as to minimum tonnage have now been removed by the committee in charge of the coastwise and intercoastal conferences. Richmond now has a standing in the eyes of the shipping world that she has never heretofore enjoyed. These accomplishments of the last few days are the results of many months of negotiations and persistent efforts on the part of the traffic committee of the Richmond chamber of commerce, of which W. W. Scott is chairman.

"This adjustment of water rates places Richmond on an equality with the other ports on the bay, not only so far as water rates are concerned, but Richmond has for a long time enjoyed the same rates by rail and truck from valley points as have been in effect to all of the other terminals on San Francisco bay."

"We now have deep water channels which will be maintained by the United States government; we have the modern Parr-Richmond terminals; the joint trackage arrangements of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific; many acres of ideal harbor lands that have been and are being made ready for industrial plants; and now with transportation from the port of Richmond to all the ports of the United States on a parity with any other ports on the bay our community should make great strides during the coming year."

A. A. Moran of the traffic committee said only two steps remain to be taken to give Richmond complete equality in all respects. One is the matter of joint rail and water rates to the northwest, the other that of European shipping lines making Richmond a port of call.

"Richmond is already the natural gateway from the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys," he said, "and the important steps we have recently taken are bound to lead in the near future to a great volume of business through this port."

WILL ROGERS TELLS OF PARTY

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—UP—After a day of silence, Clara Bow, issued a statement shortly before midnight tonight explaining the manner in which she lost $13,900 at gambling tables in Calneva Nev.

She said that she was unaccustomed to the procedure and alleged that she was given 50-cent pieces to play without knowing that each of them represented $100.

Miss Bow said that her previous silence had been occasioned by a desire not to mix her dinner host, Will Rogers, in her personal affairs. Since his statement of this afternoon, silence no longer was necessary, she said.

Makes Mistake
From Miss Bow's statement that she thought she was losing only 50 cents on each chip, it was figured that in losing $100 per chip for $13,900 she lost 139 times. At 50 cents a chip, this would be only $70.

The statement:
"I have not previously given details concerning the affair at Calneva because I did not care to mix my host, Will Rogers in my personal affairs. However, since he has seen fit to make a statement to the papers, there appears to be no reason for me to keep quiet."

"After we had dinner, Mr. Rogers went to one of the gambling tables, and naturally we went with him. I began to play a little game called 'twenty-one' which they called there, blackjack."

Checks Seen
"They gave me 50-cent pieces to play with and I found some checks in blank telling the dealer to fill in the amount of the 50-cent pieces. 'It now seems they gave me 50-cent pieces represented what they call $100 chips, and they put enough in the checks to amount to that."

"When the checks reached my Los Angeles bank, they called me and said the checks had a slip on them telling the bank to 'wire $50 of these checks'."

"This attracted the attention of my bankers and they called me up and I found for the first time that this gambling game claimed I had lost and owed them $13,900 so I told the bank not to honor the drafts."

WILL ROGERS TELLS STORY

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—UP—Will Rogers, the cowboy screen comedian, who "sort of introduced" Clara Bow at Calneva, Nev., the night she allegedly lost $13,900 at gambling tables and then stopped payment on her checks, he said today.

At least, Rogers explained, Clara Bow had dinner with his party and then became interested in the gambling rooms. Her new "boy friend," Rex Bell, was working with Rogers in a picture being filmed near Calneva. (Continued on Page 8)

MANY UPSETS MARK GOLF MATCHES

MERION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 24.—UP—To the famous carnages of all sports history must be added that wrought by the golfing fates at Merion today.

Never before in the history of this royal and ancient pastime has such devastation been known as that which befell the favorites, the ex-champions and the rest, in this most amazing of national amateur championships.

Smiling through the debris, with his path to his fourth major championship of the year swept clean by the outcome of two astounding 18 hole rounds, stands the colossus of them all, Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta.

Stars Lose
As for the rest, the famous stars who stood this morning in the Georgian's path, they have been eliminated, to the last man. Not a single seeded star, not a single player conceded a chance against Bobby, remains in the championship.

Not since the amateur championship was inaugurated back in 1895 has there been such a third round as that which will be played tomorrow. Save for Jess Sweetser, the smiling New Yorker who barely wormed his way in among the survivors, and whose golf these days is far from what it was when he was a champion, there is not a player left whose name is familiar to national competition.

In the midst of these upsets, the most surprising and the most complete in golfing history, Bobby Jones stood out.

Jones Wins
The Atlanta won his two 18 hole matches, both by the margin of 5 up and 4 to play, taking them in his stride. Bobby played brilliantly in the morning to defeat C. Ross Summerville, former Canadian champion. He breezed through his match with F. C. Hoblitzel, another Canadian, in the afternoon.

The pairings for tomorrow's third round, 36 hole matches, starting at the top of the upper brackets, indicate what Bobby has to overcome now to win this championship which means so much to him. Here they are:

Eugene Homans, Englewood, N. J., vs. John Lehman, Chicago.
Charles Seaver, Los Angeles vs. W. F. McPhail, Boston.
Maurice McCarthy, Jr., New York, vs. Jess Sweetser, New York.

Bobby Jones, Atlanta, vs. Fay Coleman, Los Angeles.
Lovely Loss
The first round matches saw the favorites begin to go down like ten pins.

F. O. P. Winner of Portland, last year's runner up, was the first to fall. W. E. Lamborn, Little, of San Francisco put him out at the 20th hole.

Then Francis Quimet, the popular Bostonian, who was open champion 17 years ago, went down before Charley Kocsis, of Detroit, the youngest of the qualifiers.

George Duhlap, the Princetonian who had been playing just about as good as anyone at Merion, was eliminated by Jack Ahern, genial unknown from New York state.

Goodman Loses
Johnny Goodman who put out Bobby Jones at Pebble Beach last year, fell by the wayside and was a victim of Johnny McHugh of Chicago.

Now the ironical thing about this day's play was that all of the youngsters who triumphed over established stars in the first round were themselves promptly eliminated in the second 18 hole rounds.

Little bowed to Gene Honans, young Kocsis lost to McPhail, Jess Sweetser put out Ahern at the 19th and Fay Coleman disposed of McHugh.

Thus the golfing gods played no favorites.
The complete collapse of the eligible opponents for Bobby left the way wide open for him to achieve his ambition of winning four major championships this year.

MANY COLLEGES WILL ATTEND INAUGURAL

BERKELEY, Sept. 24.—Although the inauguration of the University of California's new president, Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, is still five weeks in the future, word has already been received from 79 universities, colleges and research and educational institutions throughout the United States, Canada and England, that they will have delegates in attendance at the ceremony.

This announcement was made today by Prof. W. Popper, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the inauguration as a result of a preliminary check of letters received during the past two weeks. It is expected that approximately 300 delegates will come to Berkeley for the ceremony which is to take place October 22.

List Is Growing
Among the institutions from which word has been received are the following: Carnegie Corporation of New York, Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., and the American Oriental Society.

Universities represented from out of the United States are: Aberdeen University, Glasgow; Adelaide University, Adelaide; London University, London; Philippine Islands, Salskatchewan; Puget Sound, and Severance Union Medical College, Seoul, Korea.

Universities in the United States that have already sent word include: Chicago, Clark, Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Johns Hopkins, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Carolina, Stanford, California Institute of Technology, Texas, Virginia, Washington, Yale, Carleton, Dartmouth, Catholic University of America, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Lehigh, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Montana, Nevada, Ohio Wesleyan, Rutgers, St. Clara, Tennessee, Tulane, Vermont and West Point.

Other colleges that have sent word are: Belmont, Carleton, Claremont, Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Pacific School of Religion, Harvard, Knox, Lafayette, Mills, Mt. Holyoke, Oberlin, Occidental, Pomona, Smith, Scripps, State College of Washington, Utah State Agricultural College, San Francisco State Teachers College and San Francisco Theological Seminary.

STANFORD GRID TEAM MEETS O. C.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 24.—Offense and fundamentals. These are the two branches of the game on which Glenn Warner, Stanford football coach, is putting most emphasis this week in preparation for the Olympic Club game here Saturday.

Warner indicated that he was fairly well satisfied with his team's defense against West Coast Army. The Cardinal's tackled better than ever before in an season opener and yielded but little ground to the Jarheads. Nor did the Army aerial attack catch the Redshirts napping. As a matter of fact, there was a good indication that Stanford will present a more formidable defense against forward passes this year than last.

The Stanford offense against the soldiers gave evidence of power but was exceedingly ragged. Mishandling of the ball cost the Cards many yards and off-side penalties were far too frequent to please Coach Warner. Blocking in close line play was far from satisfactory and open field clipping was only fair. Linemen and backs alike are taking their share of work on blocking and clipping this week.

Warner is far from decided upon his best backfield combination at the present time. Phil Moffatt is pretty certain to draw the starting assignment at left half, in most cases, although "Snud" Hardy, a graduate of the 1929 goots, is capable of stepping in without materially weakening the team.

Rudy Rintala is not far behind. Harry Hillman seems fairly sure of the quarterback job by virtue of his splendid offensive work and constantly improving defensive play.

Installing Moffatt and Hillman as regulars would leave three men for the other two positions, each of whom appears to be valuable. Guido Cagliari, right half, and Bill Simpkins and Harold Rothert, fullback are the three in question.

Army and indicated that he is needed on the team. Simpkins played a bang-up game and gave every indication that he is on his way back to his 1928 form. Rothert displayed more punch than ever before and began to look like the football player his supporters have expected him to be for two seasons.

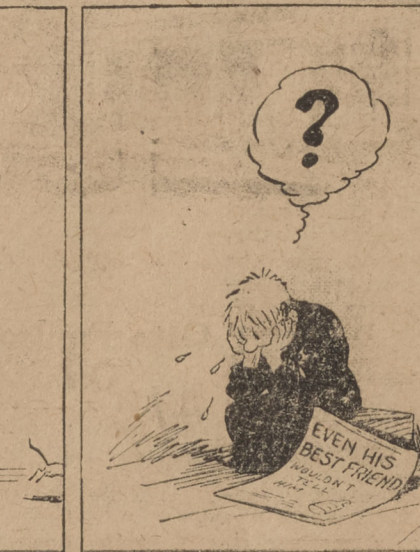

With the quarterback and fullback positions interchangeable it is probable that Simpkins and Rothert will be battling for the call all season, although Rothert can be used at right half if he is needed.

Louisville In Victory Over Rochester Nine

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 24.—UP—Louisville, champions of the American association, captured the opening game of the 12th junior world series before a crowd of 10,000 here today by defeating Rochester, International league champions, 7 to 3.

A six-run rally in the fourth inning clinched the game for the Cardinals.

BOATING CLUB REGATTA ON OCT. 12

Members of the Richmond Boating association met recently to lay plans for the outboard motor regatta to be held on the Richmond inner harbor Oct. 12.

It was planned that four races will be run off. Each will be 25 miles long. There will be two events for divisions one and two and also two for divisions three and four.

The regatta is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock and will continue until four o'clock.

A feature of the boating meet will be the giving away of a fast outboard motorboat at the clubhouse of the Richmond Boating association on the inner harbor. It will be awarded at four o'clock at the conclusion of the races.

The meet will be directed by Tony Alameda, commodore of the Northern California Outboard association.

Valuable merchandise will be awarded to the winners of the various events.

This is the third outboard regatta to be held on the Richmond inner harbor. The other proved successful, and the sport has become firmly established in this city.

Elk Golfers Will Meet Berkeley Team

More than sixty Richmond and Berkeley golfers will participate in the fall golf tournament of the Richmond and Berkeley lodges of Elks to be held tomorrow afternoon.

Approximately 35 local lodgesmen have signified their intention of entering the tourney, while about an equal number is expected to represent Berkeley.

The meet will be held on the Berkeley country club links, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. M. E. Hazelton is chairman of the tournament committee.

Tomorrow's golf meet is the first fall golf tourney to be held between the Richmond and Berkeley lodges. A cup has been offered to the winner of tomorrow's meet.

Golfing competition between the local and Berkeley golfers has been exceedingly close during years of battling on eastbay links. The last spring tournament was decided in Richmond's favor by tossing dice to break a tie.

League Will Name Judges

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—UP—Two projects in which the United States has unusual interest, harmonization of the Kellogg treaty with the League covenant on election of judges to the world court—held the attention of the League of Nations assembly tonight.

The opening of the session of the harmonization plan raised some doubt as to general approval of the project, especially by Japan, but plans for election of the world court judges indicated approval of proposals to increase the court membership from 11 to 15.

The important election of judges for the nine year term will occur tomorrow morning with some 60 candidates seeking appointment to the court. The assembly is expected to vote the increase in the number of judges before the election.

LEGION GAME SUNDAY, RAIN OR SHINE

Richmond Post of the American Legion football team and the Acorn Athletic club of Oakland will play their scheduled game at 2 p. m. Sunday rain or shine.

This announcement was made yesterday after a conference with "Rock" Bertillon, captain of the Oakland team and Dan "Hap" Bradley, manager of the local squad.

Bertillon said yesterday that he would favor a rainy game, as he believes a muggy field will be to his team's advantage.

Cando Samples, coach of the Legion squad, on the other hand is devoutly praying for a clear day, as the formation he is using is considerably more effective on a fast field.

The formation in which Samples is drilling the Legion team, is believed to be one of the most deceptive used in present day football, spectators at the recent practices declaring that on most of the plays they could not tell which player was carrying the ball.

The last practice before the game Sunday will be held opposite the Longfellow Junior high school tonight. Samples believing a two day rest is needed by the players, who have rounded into fine form and are ready for almost any team in the vicinity.

Bradley has been corresponding with managers of other California teams, and announced yesterday that a week from this Sunday the Legion team will tangle with the Utopians of San Francisco and on Oct. 19, will play its first out of town game, meeting Antioch at Antioch.

Sunday's game is attracting considerable interest around town, and is expected to break all existing records for opening game gate receipts.

Both the American Legion and the Legion auxiliary are expected to be present in large groups, as well as the dived in the wool football fans of Richmond and Oakland.

ROBINS BEATEN BY PHILLIES, CARDS IDLE

NATIONAL LEAGUE

With the league leading St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs, last of the contenders, idle Wednesday, there were only two games played in the National League.

The last place Phillies beat the Robins, 6-3, the defeat dropping Brooklyn to fourth place, three percentage points behind the idle New York Giants. Brooklyn now has lost seven straight games, the losing streak coming on the heels of 11 consecutive victories which hoisted the Robins to first place.

Klein's 4th home run of the season with a man on base and another homer by Don Horst gave the Phillies a 3 run lead in the first inning. It was the last game of the season between the two teams, Brooklyn winning 15 and Philadelphia 7.

The Cardinals defeated Cincinnati, 5 to 1, in a game called after five innings because of rain. Larry French won his 17th victory of the season, and gave the Pirates 14 victories out of 22 games played with the Reds this season.

The Cardinals still have to win two games out of their remaining four to clinch the pennant even if the Chicago Cubs win all four of their remaining games. The Cards have four games left to play with St. Louis. The Cubs have four contests with the Reds at Chicago, starting Thursday.

American League

The Boston Red Sox defeated Washington, 6 to 3, in the only American league game played Wednesday. The Senators had a three-run lead until the fifth when the Red Sox made six hits off General Crowder and put over five runs.

SENIOR REGENT'S NIGHT OBSERVED BY MOOSEHEART

What was pronounced as the most successful social night during the present term, was held at the Moose hall last night when members of the Richmond Mooseheart Legion observed their third annual "Past Regent's Night."

According to reports from the many members who attended, the affair was exceedingly successful, and all reported a wonderful meeting.

With Past Regent Mrs. Vallie Scholer presiding, other past regents filled the officer's chairs, and the ritualistic work was performed in a manner that only those who have reached the top, can do.

Past regents of the legion in the order of seniority are: Mrs. Marie Lee Kelly, Mrs. Dora Parnell, Mrs. Vallie Scholer, Mrs. E. J. Martin, Mrs. Daisy Mayo, Mrs. Minnie Phillips and Mrs. Nellie LaLonde.

A feature of the evening was a talk given by Mrs. Scholer on Mooseheart, "The City of Childhood" from which she has recently returned.

Mrs. Scholer visited the Moose city in Illinois, and was loud in her praise of the institution. In her talk she told of the wonderful work being done there and of the bank, post office, schools, dairies, stores, all run by residents of the city, who also form the governing body.

One of the high-lights of Mrs. Scholer's speech was her description of the new baby village at Mooseheart, erected by the lodges of Pennsylvania for children under kindergarten age.

In this little village there are at present about 20 children, and all household equipment such as chairs, tables, etc., are of miniature size for the tots.

There is also another building for the children between the baby age and the school age, Mrs. Scholer reported.

Plans are also progressing toward the erection of a memorial building in the city, for members of California lodges who died in the World War, Mrs. Scholer said, and it probably will not be long now until the ground is broke and building started.

Following the meeting, a sumptuous banquet was served in the banquet room, which was decorated in a beautiful color scheme, with the entrance to the tables typifying the "Portals of the Past."

Mrs. Mab Alger was chairman of the evening, and Mrs. Celia Rook and Mrs. Ve'ma-Mae Quinn were chairmen of the committees in charge of the decorations and the banquet. All three women received the commendations of the members for their work in making the evening a success.

All past regents were presented with gorgeous corsages, and Mrs. Scholer, as presiding officer received a large bouquet, and a personal gift from Mrs. Clare Barry, senior regent of this term.

ANYBODY'S WAR MAKES HIT AT FOX

Now it's here! "Anybody's War," the second Two Black Crows comedy feature, comes to the Fox-California theater today for a two day run.

"Anybody's War" has been referred to by a Hollywood writer as "All riot on the blackface front." It is a film version of the original novel, "The Two Black Crows" by E. J. Connelley, written several years ago by Charles E. Mack, leader of the famous team. Added dialog was furnished for the screen play by Walter Veen, himself a famous blackface trouper, who has an important role in the film.

Mack is seen as the dusky and tired Dog Catcher of the Town of Buford, Tennessee. His pal, Moran, learns that the United States is at war and joins up. When Mack learns of this he also decides to get into the big scrap "over there," to be near his buddy. Meanwhile Joan Peers as Buford's town beauty, and Neil Hamilton, as the town telegrapher, have also joined the colors and been sent to France.

Mack takes his favorite dog, "Deep Stuff," into the army with him. The adventures of the leading characters provide uproarious fun coupled with a nice balance of boy-and-girl love furnished by Hamilton and Miss Peers.

"Deep Stuff" proves to be one of the big heroes of the war. He and the 79 other dogs of the picture—each of which Mack protects in his home after their capture because he is too kind-hearted to kill them—serve admirably as foils for the screamingly comical dialog of the two Crows, Amos and Willie.

The plot tension is retained throughout—and of course with him. The adventures of the leading characters provide uproarious fun coupled with a nice balance of boy-and-girl love furnished by Hamilton and Miss Peers.

Richard Wallace, one of the most successful of Paramount's younger directors, megaphoned this one. He was the director of Maurice Chevalier's "The Pirates of Paris," "The Shop-Worn Angel," and Gary Cooper's "Seven Days Leave."

SPROUL MAKES TALK IN SOUTH

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—UP—Reminding each university student that his mind "is not a pail to fill, but a dynamo to start working," President Robert G. Sproul addressed the students of the University of California at Los Angeles at their first assembly of the fall semester. His appearance was the first of a University of California president before the student body of the Los Angeles institution, and he was given a long ovation by the students. Director Ernest Carroll Moore presided at the meeting, which was held in the auditorium of Josiah Royce hall, and which was marked by the playing of the pipe organ for the first time for the student body.

"I have long awaited this moment to welcome you in the name of the University of California," said President Sproul. "I am no stranger here. I am no 'earl-bagger' from the north. I have been a part of this institution since the time it was a dream. The late President Benjamin Ide Wheeler named me as a member of the commission to investigate the possibilities for university here. I have served on different committees and in numerous ways in bringing about this university in Los Angeles. There can be no doubt as to my loyalty to this institution, and my hope is that you will be as loyal to the University of California as a whole, as I am loyal to the University of California at Los Angeles.

"The men who founded the University of California, back in 1868, did a magnificent piece of work. They were of high standards, and they founded well, as we have discovered through the years. We hear some criticism of mass education. Some of our own alumni take exception to it, but it is good education. You have found it is hard to get in here, and you will find it is hard to graduate from here. And, you will also find that you will get a good education along the way.

"Seek not to learn, but to think. Seek not to accept, but to question. Put these questions to all that is taught you. It is true and what of it? There is too little demand for freedom of thought among students. In fact some professors think students come here to resist education. I do not think it. No one can teach you—it is up to you to learn. It is a good student who will question what is taught him, and go back to his professor and ask for more understanding and enlightenment. It is a good professor who, if he is not sure of his ground, will link arms with the student and say, 'let us go and find out.'

"Remember that 15 units of study a semester may eventually lead to a degree, but not necessarily to a real education. It is for you to seek out a real education. The opportunity is yours. You will find that the mind is not a pail to fill—it is a dynamo to start working."

Catholics Open Omaha Congress

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 24.—UP—A multitude of 85,000 Catholic worshippers, members of the six national Eucharistic Congress assembled at Creighton university stadium here tonight, held aloft thousands of candles and renewed an oath recognizing the divine authority of Christ.

The singing repeated a pledge to the Holy Name society which has for its purpose the banishment of profanity.

The glow of 85,000 candles cast their shadows on the multitude. The voices of the throng swelled to a deep rumble carried by an evening breeze as they repeated the solemn intentions of the vespers. Michael J. Rynne, national director of the Holy Name society,

Many View Films Issued By University

BERKELEY, Sept. 24.—Motion pictures issued by the University of California Extension Division, under the department of visual instruction, were witnessed by an audience of one and a half million people in California during the past year, according to a report issued this week by Edwin Mayer, head of the department of visual instruction.

Figures released by Mayer show that 7900 motion pictures were sent out to 2626 organizations throughout the state in a wide variety of subjects, through the service now rendered by the visual department, for the fiscal year 1929-30.

A new catalogue, listing 16 and 35 millimeter motion pictures, as well as a stereopticon slide set, is now available for distribution, it is stated.

The catalogue contains subjects that touch on almost every phase of educational work and range from agriculture down through vocational guidance. Some of the listings are general science, electricity, biology, chemistry, geography, forestry, economics astronomy, automobiles, civics, history, hygiene, industries, literature, physiology and nature study. Contents of the catalogue also include a grouping under the title of entertainment, with pictures of the Fairbanks, Chaplin types.

Catalogues are available through communication with 301 California Hall, Berkeley, it is announced.

Slight Mistake Makes Sinclair G. O. P. Nominee

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(UP)—It was pretty much of a shock to Upton Sinclair, writer and socialist, when the secretary of state informed him that he had received the republican nomination for Governor of California, but he accepted with alacrity.

Sinclair was under the impression, and so were all the voters of the state that Mayor James Rolph, of San Francisco had been the republican choice.

NEW SERVICE FOR FREIGHT PLANNED

Installation of a new automobile van service for Richmond shippers will be inaugurated by the Southern Pacific on October 1, according to announcement at the meeting of the directors of the Richmond chamber of commerce yesterday by Lester G. Eby, one of the directors and the local freight agent of the company.

Eby said the new plan is not to be confused with the "store-door" plan of delivery through a mechanic, but is one whereby the company will substitute the automobile van for the freight car between Richmond and the Oakland terminal, with the object of facilitating service.

"This will speed up delivery by 4 hours in most instances," said Eby. "Closing our loading here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon will enable us to move the goods to Oakland and load them in cars that night, the cars to move out during the night and provide for delivery the next morning at many California points. The plan will save 24 hours for Richmond shippers."

Eby said cooperation by shippers in getting their material to the Richmond freight depot early will make the plan a success.

TIGER CHIEFS IRED BY PROBE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—UP—Tammany Hall tempers exploded with a great bang today as the extraordinary grand jury, which already has indicted four persons, continued its investigation into charges of municipal job buying.

The detonations came from John P. Curry, leader of the Hall, and Charles L. Kohler, director of the city's $600,000,000 budget and Tammany chieftain in the 10th assembly district. Each was called before the jury, was asked one question, and then walked out purplish with anger and crying he had been "insulted."

The question was whether the witnesses would waive immunity before giving testimony. Presumably both construed this as an intimation that the two Tammanyites might know something about illegal appointments to the bench.

The hand picked jury, ordered into being by Governor Roosevelt, was originally restricted to consideration of the specific charge that George F. Ewall paid Martin J. Healy, another Tammany district leader, $10,000 for a city magistracy.

But after returning indictments against Ewall, Healy, Mrs. Ewall and Thomas T. Tammaney, Healy's renchman, the jury decided to go further and attempt to discover whether there was an established system whereby men, at a price, could attain the bench.

The Healy-Ewall case, incidentally, apparently was connected in some measure today with the mysterious disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph P. Crater, who has not been seen here since Aug. 6, on which date the newspapers were "banning" stories affecting the Ewall investigation.

District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain announced that he had checked over telephone records from the Crater home and had found that someone, early in the morning of Aug. 29, had twice called Healy's residence.

Crain announced that both Healy and Ewall would be summoned before the county grand jury investigating the Crater case to be asked if they knew anything about the calls.

Baldwins Back From Fish Trip

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baldwin have just returned to Richmond from a two weeks' vacation spent in northern California and southern Oregon.

The fishing was enjoyed by the Baldwins on the Klamath river near Requa, Del Norte county. Several fine Chinook salmon were captured by the Baldwins. The largest salmon caught weighed 16 pounds dressed. Marshfield was the most northern point reached by the local couple.

Bandits Rob Southern Bank

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—UP—A trio of robbers bound and gagged three employees of the Citizens National Bank branch on west Washington boulevard today and then leisurely escaped with the cash in sight—$5000.

The robbery occurred only 20 minutes after a warning to police that midnight gangsters were heading for Los Angeles had brought an order for added precautions.

Taking Walnuts Brings $5 Fine

WALNUT CREEK, Sept. 24.—E. F. Edwards of Oakland was fined $5 on a charge of petty theft today, when he pleaded guilty to taking walnuts that belonged to the Bancroft ranch near here.

Edwards declared the only walnuts he had taken were those lying on the highway, and he did not know it was a violation of the law to take them.

No Justice Of Peace For Small L. A. Township

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Unless the township of Bixby, on the outskirts of Los Angeles county can raise one from its 15 residents a man qualified and willing to take the office, the district will go four years without a justice of peace.

The job, paying $15 a month, has been vacant for some length of time, ever since the last justice moved over the county line into Orange county, allegedly to disqualify himself.

The board of county supervisors attempted to solve the Bixby justice problem by placing the office on the election ballot last month. Three names were written in and for a time it appeared likely that Bixby would be graced with an administrator of the law.

All three names written in on the ballot, however, received only a single vote each, so it became necessary to name the justice by drawing straws. The time was set but when the supervisors met to "draw" the justice, none of the candidates appeared.

The draw was made despite the absence and Gordon Parker, a refinery worker, was named the lucky man. Notified, Parker declined, saying that he did not know who wrote in his name on the ballot and that he did not want the job.

The board went into conference and named one of the other candidates. He failed to qualify when it was found that the marked initials were wrong. The third man was found to live just a few feet beyond the county line, making him ineligible.

Parker, the only eligible, vows he won't take the position. "I'll not take the oath of office. If I had the damned thing, what'd I do with it?" declared Parker to the board of supervisors.

And now, unless one of the 15 residents of the town expresses a willingness to take over the justice post, Bixby township, county of Los Angeles, will have no justice of peace.

City Managers Open Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—UP—City managers from more than 100 cities of the United States, assembled here today for their annual convention. Business sessions will be held here Thursday and Friday and at the University of California in Berkeley Saturday morning.

WHEAT PRICES RETURN AS U. S. BUYS

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—UP—Purchase of wheat by the United States, apparently to offset short selling by the Soviet Russian government, sent grain prices bounding back on the Chicago board of trade today after they had slipped to new low levels.

Wheat prices skidded down to virtual demoralization until information was received that the farmers national grain corporation, affiliated with the federal farm board, was buying December wheat at Minneapolis.

Prices then advanced violently during the last 15 minutes of trading to close slightly above yesterday's figures.

As soon as the final gong sounded in the board of trade pits, its business conduct committee met again secretly to consider charges preferred by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, that the Soviet government had sold large quantities of grain short in Chicago.

The committee was in session almost all afternoon, going over data sent by the department of agriculture to substantiate Hyde's charges. Joseph W. Badenoch, chairman, said later that the committee had heard "no witnesses and that it would not meet again until Friday."

The American farm bureau federation announced meanwhile that its board of directors would meet on October 2 for a two day investigation of the Soviet trade, to learn if possible whether it caused the sagging market of the last month.

The federation also said it would consider legislative reforms intended to prevent speculative manipulation.

FRANCE TO GUARD AGAINST "DUMPING"

PARIS, Sept. 24.—UP—The government today ordered port officials and millers to give strict observance to regulations instituted to offset "dumping" in France of wheat from Soviet Russia or other countries.

Anticipating the unloading of Russian wheat in the same manner as in Liverpool recently, port officials were instructed to apply closely the law forbidding importations of foreign wheat except by a permit showing a similar amount of French wheat previously has been exported.

The attention of millers also was called to the law obliging them to use 90 per cent French wheat in flour.

Government circles expressed fear that wholesale dumping of Soviet wheat here at low prices would have a serious effect among growers, who would be forced to sell at low prices in addition to disappointment with a poor crop.

French Fliers To Arrive Soon

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—UP—The French Trans-Atlantic fliers Diemond-Costes and Maurice Bellet, will reach San Francisco Saturday afternoon, 24 hours later than originally scheduled, according to word received by Mayor James Rolph, Jr., today. Adverse winds and stormy weather have delayed the fliers in the transcontinental tour.

OIL WAR SEEN IN STATE SOON

FRESNO, Sept. 24.—UP—There may yet be war among California's oil producers.

At least there will be if some of the holders of Kettleman Hills property have their way.

An increasing storm of protest is stirring among them against the conservation committee's curtailment edicts.

The several dozen men who own interests in producing Kettleman Hills wells regard the edicts as robbing them of their rights—production unrestrained.

Admittedly most of the protesters were until recently men of only moderate wealth. Some of them actually considered themselves poor.

And now, with prodigious fortunes almost within their grasp they are permitted to touch only a fraction of a tithe of it.

They can't produce it for what it is capable.

And no one—and few corporations—could afford to pay the real worth of their property.

The going bids are $50,000 an acre. And that on land where it has been repeatedly proven that one well can produce oil and gas worth $25,000 a day!

These "little fellows" are very much in the same-and-yet-so-far position. Dangling within actual reach is a monumental fortune for each.

The only barrier is the conservation committee fortified by the state's anti-gas waste law.

It is that law at which the "little fellows" apparently are aiming their heaviest artillery. Attacks on it are being made in the state courts now, with the prospect that the end will not be reached short of the United States supreme court.

The "little fellows" began muttering rebelliously at the first suggestion of curtailment, which was seriously made about the time the Milham discovery well came in two or three years ago.

Their ire was renewed lately and has now nearly reached the storm stage, following the new curtailment edict on the heels of the producing of the Hoffman No. 1 well by the Superior Oil Co.

The Hoffman No. 1 is the deepest producer in the world, flowing some 10,000 barrels of near-gasoline from a depth of more than 8000 feet. And it, like the other wells in the field is "pinned off" near the danger point the oil men say. The well is now producing 22,500 barrels daily.

M. T. Huffman, owner of the 150 acres on which the well is located, paid $700 for his land at a delinquent tax sale 10 years ago. He might have been speaking for all the other small holders when he said:

"I most certainly am opposed to the curtailment that would limit Kettleman to 15,000 barrels daily. Most of us who have held in the Kettleman have waited a long time to realize an investment and feel we are entitled to some consideration."

Some have actually waited nearly 20 years.

One more outspoken than Huffman voiced what is probably the secret sentiment of all of this group when he said:

"If they want to produce oil cheap, let them open Kettleman. They could shut down all of the other wells in the state and Kettleman could produce enough for the entire Pacific coast." The latter statement is supported as truth by oil field seismologists.

One result of the producing of the Huffman well was the expanding of the field to include portions of Fresno county. The remainder of the proven area is in Kings county.

The new proven portion is so valuable that the holders of the Amerada lease offsetting the Huffman property have asked $10,000,000 for half their property.

Standard Oil of California owns most of the land in the field not owned by the federal government. And the major part of Standard's 32,000 acres is valued on its books at just $7 an acre.

Key Car Runs Wild; Hits Auto

BERKELEY, Sept. 24.—UP—A Key System street car left the tracks here today, damaged a parked automobile and came to a stop when it bumped into another street car.

No one was hurt and damage was only slight. The accident happened a block from the campus home of Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California.

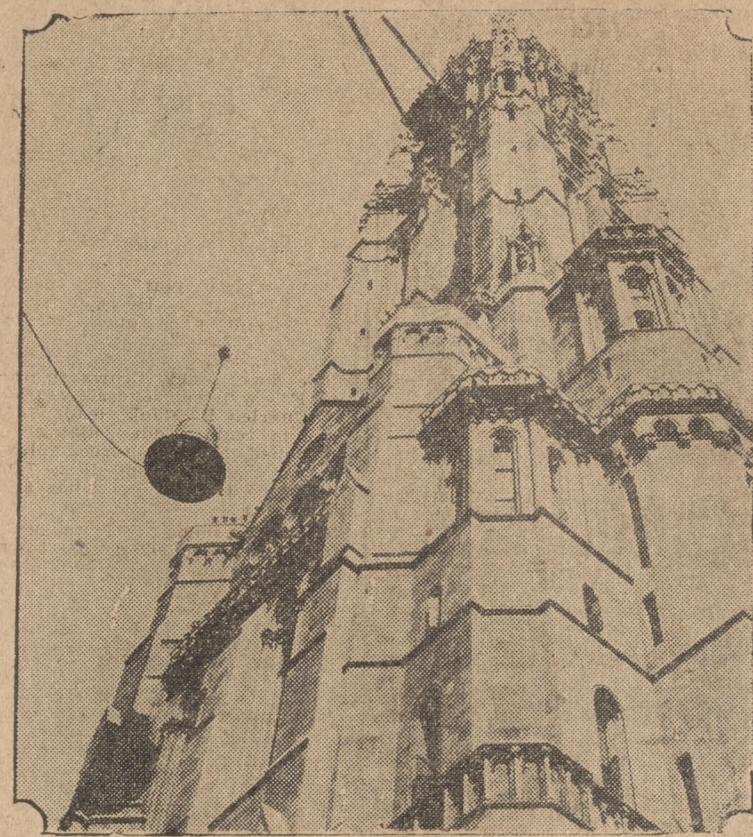

Suspect Shoots Self At S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—UP—Firing a shot below his heart in an effort to evade arrest, Harry P. Wathby, 23, surprised police officers at Daly City, a suburb, late today.

Wathby was taken to an emergency hospital in critical condition.

He had hidden in a closet when officers approached his house with a warrant charging issuance of fictitious checks. As they broke down the door and saw him, he pulled the trigger of the revolver.

The bell is 10 feet two and one half inches in diameter and weighs 20 and one half tons. It is claimed that the ringing of this bell may be heard five miles away.

New Method Of Landing Plane Blind Is Told

BERKELEY, Sept. 24.—At the third scientific session of the first western meeting of the National Academy of Sciences meeting at the University of California last week end, an explanation was given of the newly developed method of handling airplanes safely without the need of any observations by the pilot other than he can obtain from his instruments, for use in heavy fogs.

The report on blind landing of aircraft was prepared by H. Diamond and F. W. Dammore of the United States Bureau of Standards. The method consists of a series of radio signals received within the plane on various instruments, and telling the pilot from what direction to approach the landing field when he is over the field, and how rapidly to cut down his altitude.

The directions for keeping the plane directed to and over the runway are sent out on two diverging beams. The instruments within the plane, one tuned to 85 cycles and the other to 86.7 cycles, indicate whether or not the pilot is heading toward the source of the beams and whether he is directly over the line bisecting the angle at which the beams diverge. When on the right course the instruments register equally, off the course they are unequal.

Another beam of waves gives the pilot his vertical guidance. This beam is sent up at an angle of 8 degrees, along the runway from the farther end. The instrument on the plane, a micrometer, is so made that when the plane is flying below this beam and describing the correct curve for landing its deflecting needle remains stationary. If the plane drops too fast, or not fast enough, the needle moves.

A third beacon marks the edge of the field toward which the plane is approaching, and by its action on the runway beacon, apprise the pilot of his position over the field longitudinally.

Ruth Alexander Funeral Held

IRVING, Kans., Sept. 24.—UP—Surrounded by those who knew her as a school girl and who loved her dearly, simple funeral services were held here today for Ruth Alexander, nationally prominent woman flier and parachute jumper, whose death occurred last week in California.

The funeral service was read by the Rev. Ralph Rohr of Omaha, Neb., a lifelong friend of the family.

Show Will Be Given By P. T. A. Of Wilson School

To raise funds for the purchase of instruments for the school band, members of the Wilson school P. T. A. are sponsoring a moving picture show and entertainment tomorrow night in the school auditorium.

The program will open at 7:30 with a Mary Pickford film, "Little Annie Rooney" as the main feature. There will be a number of dances by members of Matilda Meyer's dancing class, and skits by talented students of Nelda Baker and Richmond school children.

Members of the association and some of the older girls of the school will conduct the candy sale between acts.

SECRETARY OF FASCIST PARTY RESIGNS POST

ROME, Sept. 24.—UP—Augusto Turati, 39-year old secretary-general of the Fascist party, resigned today and was succeeded by Giovanni Giuriati, president of the chamber of deputies.

The resignation of the powerful Fascist official, considered perhaps the most important change since Premier Mussolini resigned a majority of the cabinet posts a year ago, was viewed in official comment as "a natural event for which it is not necessary to seek hidden reasons."

The national directorate of the Fascist party also resigned and successors will be appointed by the Fascist grand council at its first meeting early in October.

Coincidentally, Minister of Communications Costanzo Ciano, whose son recently married Edda Mussolini, daughter of the premier, was named a member of the grand council by Mussolini, who also appointed former Minister of Finance Alberto De Stefani, Deputy Edmondo Rossoni and Turati to the council.

Giuriati, in succeeding Turati as secretary general, will retain his post as president of the chamber of deputies.

Turati had occupied the post of secretary-general for five years, longer than any of his predecessors.

More About the Way Out

NEW YORK women out of work may still be too "chocky" to take the housework jobs offered them at the City Free Employment Bureau, but these same jobs look attractive to women outside New York. The latest factor in this particular unemployment problem is the receipt by the bureau of many letters from applicants in other cities for the domestic service positions sneered at by local ladies, who, in the phrase of one of them, "want a job that will let me go out every night to the movies and not have to depend on my friends to buy me candy."

"Why don't you take it yourself?" other out-of-workers scornfully inquired of the mother who appeared personally at the bureau to offer $40 a month and room and board for a nursemaid.

Nevertheless, we still feel as we did a week ago, when we wrote a column on domestic service as "one way out for women out of work." We are inclined to agree with the eager out-of-town applicants for the housework jobs paying up to $30 a month with board and lodging—the applicants who write that they can't understand what has got into New York women that they refuse to do housework. One of the letter writers expressed the idea that city women must be going crazy. She herself wrote that she was a good cook and fond of children and "didn't mind bending her back."

IN LETTERS objecting to housework as a solution for unemployment which we have received, two chief points are made: (1) that the servant's room "in an expensive Riverside Drive apartment" is often "not fit for a dog" while her work is so long and exhausting that she can only sink exhausted into bed at night; (2) that the employing housewives are too highbrow.

The answer we would make to these protestants is that there are jobs and jobs in homes, as in shops or offices. At present, according to Mrs. Florence Grant, in charge of the women's section of the City Free Employment Bureau, there are still two hundred and fifty domestic service jobs going begging there. We simply do not believe that all the women offering these jobs are offensively supercilious, or that they all will overlook their servants and house them wretchedly.

There is so much competition nowadays for good household assistants that women who can and will qualify surely have a chance to pick and choose. We know, from conditions in our own home and neighborhood, that many suburban housewives offer pleasant living quarters to their domestic assistants; that the girls are free every evening after 7:30 or 8 o'clock, besides having time off in the afternoon; that they are neither overworked nor rudely treated. Many a suburban housewife and mother would be so glad to get someone who not only would help her efficiently with her work but would free her from perpetual domestic confinement, that she would not be less than fair and courteous in her treatment of this girl from the gods. And even if here is a job "in the country," there are the same movies to be seen as in the city!

WHY shouldn't these women out of work "shop around" for a considerate home employer, as they, presumably, would exercise some choice in any place of business where they went to work? They don't have to sign up with a "highbrow" mistress. If they don't like the room, the work, the hours in the first home they enter, what's to hinder them from trying another? To take a housework job is not to sell oneself down the river—one is still a free agent.

All we argue is this: isn't it better to do honest work which insures shelter, food and a fair salary, even if the work isn't one's heart's desire, than to be workless, undernourished, in imminent danger of eviction for nonpayment of room rent—or else a parasite on some relative?

THESE THINGS WILL HAPPEN

We were on a sightseeing tour, and a handsome guide was to take us through the interesting City of Toronto. Since he was so good-looking I managed to seat myself near him. For I didn't want to miss anything he might say.

I was rather early. And so I chatted with him. We were getting very chummy. When others joined our party, since he couldn't talk to me any more he wrote on a card (such as had been handed to each of us):

"Will you write to me?"

I nodded, and thus encouraged him to write his name and address on my card.

We smiled at each other. For we had a secret to keep. As we were about to start, another couple entered. They seated themselves right next to me.

CA DISH CA DAY

Copyright by Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

During the summer salads become so popular as the main dish at luncheon that even when cooler weather comes we are reluctant about changing our dietary habits. There is no good reason for our doing so, either, for salads can be hearty and nourishing in keeping with our increased appetites.

KAREN HOLLIS

The chief requisite of warm weather salads is daintiness, and that is why gelatine salads are so well liked. However, with cooler weather we want something more substantial, so we seek combinations that include meat, or fish, or eggs. A few general rules for salad making are all that the ingenious cook needs. Autumn salads, when served as the main dish, should include something satisfying, such as fish, meat or eggs; something bulky and flavory, such as shredded raw carrot or spiced beets, and something crisp and green, such as lettuce, cabbage or green pepper. Innumerable combinations can be serving.

worked out. One of my favorites is a specialty of one of the little Park Avenue cafes that is famous for its good food. It is as delicious as it is attractive.

EGG SALAD SUPREME
4 hard-boiled eggs.
12 anchovies.
1/2 teaspoon grated onion.
1 cup shredded raw carrot.
1 green pepper, sliced in rings.
1/2 cup mayonnaise.
2 tablespoons catsup.
Remove shells from the hard-boiled eggs and cut them in half lengthwise. Remove the yolks and mash them with onion juice and about a tablespoon of mayonnaise. Chop four anchovies and blend them with the egg yolks. Stuff the eggs with this filling. On a slice of iceberg lettuce or a bed of lettuce leaves place a border of grated raw carrot and arrange rings of green pepper. Allow two halved eggs for each serving, dressed with mayonnaise into which catsup has been beaten. Garnish with whole anchovies. Egg salad should be chilled only slightly before serving.

Corporal Punishment

A MOTHER wrote me the other day: "I followed your advice and stopped spanking my thirteen-year-old girl and fourteen-year-old boy, and now they are stealing and lying and talking terribly to me. I shall have to return to using the strap."

Isn't it a pity when thirteen and fourteen-year-olds can be restrained from dishonesty, untruthfulness and disrespect only through the use of fear? Shouldn't children have developed their own ideals and be governed by these, by the time they have reached adolescence? Will this mother be able to hover over her offspring all their lives, with a strap in her hand?

This boy and girl had evidently never been treated as reasoning human beings. They had never been taught to choose one thing rather than another because it was "right." All their lives they had known only one "teacher"—fear. Naturally, when the only thing that held them in check was suddenly withdrawn, they went "wild."

"Does one ever need to resort to corporal punishment," is a question often asked. I think not. Some people feel that one has to fall back upon spanking once in a great while. Others insist that very young children, who cannot be reasoned with, must be disciplined in this way. It seems to me that if we could control our own tempers, we should always be able to manage our children and teach them all the needed lessons in healthier ways.

Children are so very reasonable! And they are most teachable. If we use a great deal of patience, and much thought and resourcefulness, we can handle them without sleeping and spanking. These punishments are nearly always simply outlets for our own annoyance. It is true that they often get quicker results than other correctives. But isn't it better to go more slowly when we consider what they do to the personality of the child?

Being subjected to such indignities robs a young one of his self respect. In addition, it makes the child who is naturally cowardly over-submissive, shy and fearful. On the other hand, the youngster with spirit is made resentful, antagonistic, obstinate and ill-tempered by such treatment, while children who have too much self respect are entirely submissive and yet not enough to be rebellious become sly and deceitful, thus outwitting their parents in underhand ways.

Let us treat our youngsters as reasoning human beings and we shall see how very tractable they will be. Surely one should never resort to corporal punishment with adolescents. Children who have been taught to love the good and beautiful will, at adolescence, have as much contempt for lying and stealing as their parents.

The Importance of Evening Wraps

VIONNET WRAP OF SUEDE CLOTH AND ERMINE

LANVIN'S RED VELVET WRAP TRIMMED WITH BLACK FOX

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IS the evening wrap more important than the dress? Well, it is—almost. So often the dress will be simple to the point of being plain. But the cape—goodness me—that will be as full of design as can well be imagined.

This is the season when those who can afford it will simply lose their heads and indulge in all sorts and conditions of evening wraps, for after you have bought one and are all set in that direction, you are certain to feel that another one is going to set off another evening dress to much better advantage.

They are coming over from Paris—the most romantic looking things in the world—all lengths and patterns. Fur trimming there is and lots of it. And never can it be said that the models follow any one set design. They are as different and as varied as the period gowns that are worn with them—and that, be it known, covers some range of designing.

Short Wraps

IN the spring we all went quite wild over the little short coats. They were so flattering and so exactly what we needed then. But when winter comes along we certainly seem to need more embracing garments if they are going to be any protection at all from cold blasts of weather.

You will find short ones don't have any long ones, too. But per haps the handsomest of all are three-quarter length, striking that happy medium that is always a joy.

I have selected examples of evening wraps from three of the most famous of Parisian couturiers—Patou, Vionnet and Lanvin, each of them noted for the distinguished material to tie at the throat and float away. It has narrow sleeves bordered with ermine. Then the little pointed cape of ermine, also with its scarf ends, is entirely a separate affair that goes on after the coat is in place. Patou calls it "Le peur de froid"—fear of the cold—nice way and a very interesting one of exhibiting fear.

Patou's short wrap called "Prince Igor" is made of white satin, the details of its cut being superbly worked out. It is trimmed quite stunningly with brown fur and one can imagine it worn over a white frock with all the distinction possible in a season noted for its distinguished clothes.

Vionnet

THIS designer always promises something quite out of the ordinary. She uses the simplest and most logical of materials and manages to turn out something reeking with originality.

Her coat shown here is suitable for wear with extremely dressy afternoon frocks or those keyed for Sunday evenings. Its fabric is that soft black suede cloth known only to the French and its trimming ermine. He wide sweeping sleeves of the fur being quite the salient feature. Wrapped about the figure when the arms are crossed, they give quite the shawl appearance and do everything for one in the way of warmth and coziness.

Lanvin

FOR many of the period gowns—those with full wide skirts and stiff voluminous lines—Lanvin's evening coat in red velvet has a most fitting air about it. It is most unusually picturesque with great quantities of fullness happily disposed and trimmings of puffy black fox to give it a further air of sumptuousness.

You can see by these few examples

SEPARATE CAPE OF ERMINE ON BLACK VELVET WRAP BY PATOU

PATOU'S SHORT WRAP CALLED PRINCE IGOR

how entirely varied are the possibilities for evening wraps. These are only high lights in a long range of gorgeous creations, each one lovelier than the last, so that it becomes a really difficult task to select any one thing that can be called the best.

When Things Happen

Suppose the hinge breaks on the lid of the coffee or tea pot, all you need do is replace the broken pin with a small safety pin.

When a room becomes filled with smoke you can remove it in a few minutes if you dip a towel in equal parts of hot water and vinegar, then wring it out and wave it gently over the head about the room for a few minutes.

If the windows stick and you cannot raise them, pour a little hot lard between the window frame and casing, also on the roller and rope.

FARM RELIEF AT LAST

WHEN the current number of the American Bankers' Association Journal reaches the R. F. D. routes, it will bring instant relief to the farmers. A celebrated Washington economist points out the way to distressed agriculturists. They should make their rolling farms over into golf courses. Really, it's as simple as that.

We can already hear a representative of the A. B. A. showing the light to a farmer with three mortgages on his domain.

"Zeke, you'll never turn a profit from this farm of yours. Better change it over into a golf course."

"I'm too old for that, Mr. Scrooge. Besides, it would take a heap of money to convert it."

"Not at all, Zeke. It wouldn't take a penny. And this farm of yours has the makings of a very sporty course."

"How come?"

"Well, to start with, where you've got those rows of potatoes planted would make an ideal rough."

"Yeh, but what am I goin' to do for fairways, Mr. Scrooge?"

"The cow pastures. They've been grazed down very smooth."

"That's all right, Zeke, but the farm into fairways and the rough, but what am I goin' to do for greens?"

"Plant spinach and dandelions. It's perfectly simple."

"Gee-whillikins, I never thought of that! But it's goin' to be mighty expensive layin' out the course, though, Mr. Scrooge."

"Don't be silly. Take those butter churns of yours in the barn. All you need to do is knock the bottoms off and you can use them for drilling your eighteen holes."

"But you don't understand, I've got my crops under way now. I can't let 'em go to waste."

"You don't have to, Zeke. What's the patch of stuff over there?"

"Them beets."

"Fine! You can stew them and use the juice for dyeing the flags red."

"How'll I convert that crop of hay?"

"It's simple, Zeke. You use all the haystacks for bunkers. And that grape arbor over by the stone wall you can use for your nineteenth hole."

"It sounds simple the way you tell it, Mr. Scrooge, but it'll still take a bundle of money."

"Nonsense! You can plant a crop of onions and raise your own golf balls. And that pump over near the milk sheds you can call a water hazard."

"But, look here, Mr. Scrooge. How about my hired help? If I open a golf course, they won't have nothin' to do but sit around here whittling."

"Exactly what you want them to do. Put them to whittling wooden golf tees."

to use them bees. You ain't suggestin' turnin' them into caddies, be you?"

"No, Zeke. My idea would be to turn the bees free and you could use all those honeycombs for lockers."

"Well, now that I got my farm practically converted into a golf links, what am I goin' to do for a club pro?"

"You be the club pro yourself, Zeke. You've been milking cows all your life, haven't you? You can tell those golfers the right grip to use."

"But even if I done all you told me, Mr. Scrooge, I'd have a lot of expensive equipment goin' to waste. Look at all them milk cans, horse collars and cream separators."

"Why you can make those into a miniature golf course. They're just what you need. Now you follow my advice, Zeke, and by next summer you'll have all three mortgages paid off."

THIS AND THAT

There's one consoling thought for New York's judges: If the courts were run like baseball, some of them would be on the bench for life.

You can't blame Coste and Bel-lonte for flying here with only eight sandwiches, with all those bankers they have to face.

The world series starts Oct. 1, but they didn't say where.

Electing a Republican Governor in Maine by 17,000 is a Democratic triumph, we read. And if that's a triumph, then so is getting honorable mention in a rich uncle's will.

Chrysler's son is going to publish books. So watch out for helicopter, mauve and orchid colored covers.

Al Smith is not the only politician they should give a membership in the Breakers' Union to. Lots of others need a trowel more than he does for laying it on thick.

"New 3X Note"—Headline. Gwan, there's no such thing as a $30 bill.

We would hate to be the wummy if Floyd Gibbons ever put on a ventriloquist act.

WILL ROGERS TELLS OF PARTY

"I guess being in my party was what you might call a casual introduction," Rogers said. "But it's a lot the same as introducing Herbert Hoover to the senate or Col. Lindbergh to the Boy Scouts. She is known everywhere."

Gets Chuckle

Rogers exhibited one of his famous grins as he added: "It's sort of embarrassing to ride to fame on a woman's band wagon."

Rogers said that Miss Bow visited the location point near Calneva, where his company was filming "Lightnin'" to visit Bell.

"The evening she was there she went to dinner with my party," he said. "We went into the gambling rooms after dinner, but I left right away and I have no idea whether she gambled or how she paid gambling debts, if she had any."

Will Lost

Will admitted, however, that before he departed he lost a "couple of dollars" at the tables. "I don't think I could fool anybody by saying I don't know what gambling is," he grinned.

"We always ate at Calneva because it was a swell sidewalk. I'd see wives of fellows I knew back east and they'd point out women who was sittin' around waitin' for their time to be up so they could be divorced. They'd say 'there's Mrs. Whoosie—only a week to go and Mrs. McGuff, only three weeks to go.'"

Old Home Week

"Yes, sir, it was just like old home week."

"As for the gambling games, they don't need to be crooked. Jes keep on playin' and they'll get your cash."

Clara Bow became involved in the new angle when James McKay, manager of the Calneva resort, announced that four checks signed by a red headed girl introduced to him as Clara Bow had been returned with the marking "payment stopped."

Attorneys Write

McKay said his attorneys had written to B. F. Schulberg, of the Paramount studio. Schulberg received the letter today and announced promptly that if Clara was involved it was a personal matter and that the studio would adopt a "hands-off" policy.

"I received a brief letter today from the law firm of Thatcher and Woodburn," Schulberg said. "I am replying that it is evident that the letter refers to a personal matter of Miss Bow's and not to a matter that concerns Paramount-Public and I therefore do not understand why they are communicating with us."

Since her statement of yesterday that she has no rightful debts and always pays her honest bills promptly, Miss Bow has remained silent in seclusion. A report that she was in a hysterical condition seemed baseless when her physician announced that he had not been called.

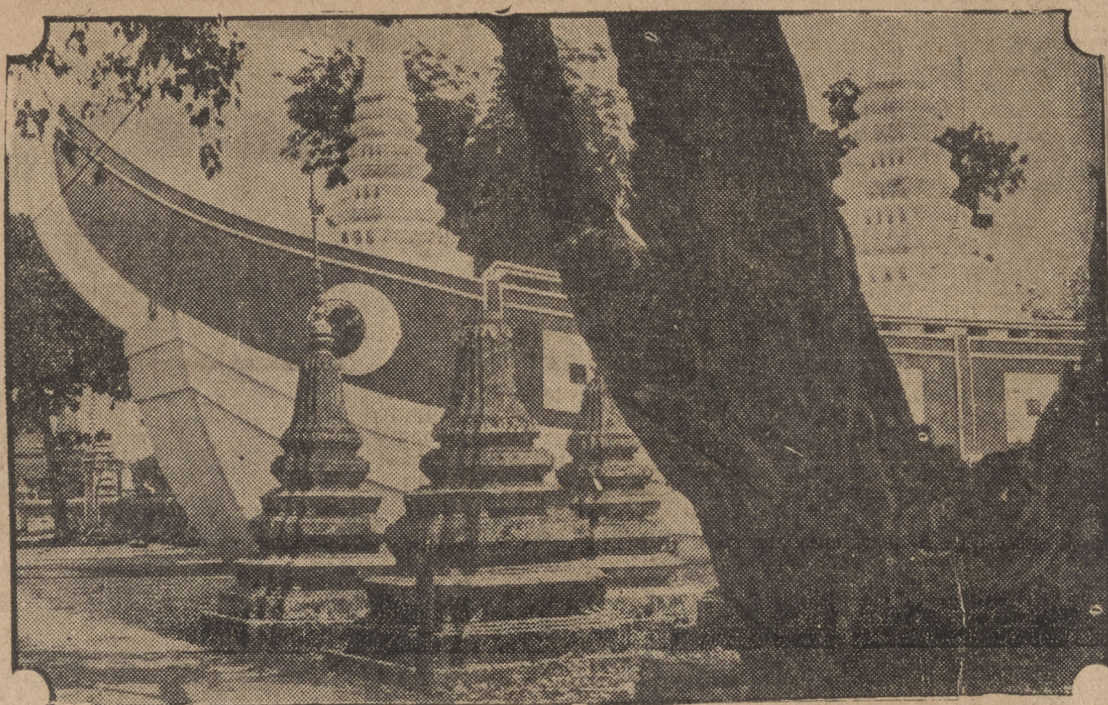

DOPED LIQUOR

RENO, Nev., Sept. 24.—UP—Proprietors of Calneva, expensive resort near Lake Tahoe on the California-Nevada boundary line, became philosophical tonight about their failure to collect $13,900 from checks bearing the signature of Clara Bow.

"Pardon me as I laugh up my sleeve," William Lewis, an executive of the resort, said, "but as a chuck-a-luck player, Miss Bow is a fine actress."

James McKay, manager of Calneva who revealed that the checks had failed to go through the Hollywood bank upon which they were drawn, seemed to be less perturbed about the financial loss than the fact that it occurred just before his season closed so that he could not mark the amount up against publicity and advertising on his books.

Good Publicity

"The publicity, under ordinary circumstances, ought to be worth thirteen grand," McKay said. "But it is just our hard luck to have it come right at the close of the season." McKay indicated he would let photographers take pictures of the checks.

Lewis and McKay expressed interest in a dispatch from Hollywood in which Will Rogers said Miss Bow had been at Calneva the same night he was there, confirming their original belief that they were accepting checks from a motion picture actress.

They were aroused, however, by reports that Miss Bow had been given "doped liquor" while their guest, and were emphatic in denial.

Good Time

"I'm sure there's nobody connected with our establishment who would drop a powder in a little girl's drink," Lewis said.

"We thought she had a wonderful time. She couldn't have acted any happier if she had been drinking ambrosia."

"But she had had luck. The dice seemed to be all double aces, double sixes and three for her. And chuck-a-luck, well, I laugh every time I think of it."

McKay declared payment had been stopped on the four checks. He said he had reported the matter to his attorneys, but although they had been dated Sept. 11, nothing had been done yet to have them made good. He continued to express doubt that he could force payment by court action because, while gambling is legal in Nevada, checks for gambling debts are looked upon as having small validity.

Drys To War On Malt, Hops

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—UP—Federal prohibition administrator Seth May of Maine, announced tonight he was considering plans for wholesale raids on malt and hop establishments in Maine in an effort to rid the state of malt syrup, one of the principal ingredients used in the manufacture of beer.

May's announcement was made as a result of a verdict handed down tonight in the federal district court here in which malt and hops seized in a raid several months ago was libeled by a jury.

Upon learning of the court decision, U. S. Attorney Frederick Dyer declared he would institute criminal action against Donahue Brothers, a large Portland wholesale house, where the malt and hops libeled by the court was seized several months ago.

Ford Refuses To Aid Fascist Party

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—UP—Efforts have been made by an alleged member of the Fascist party at Munich to get Henry Ford to contribute to their organization, it was learned tonight, but the efforts have not been successful.

An unidentified German who said he represented the Fascist party, approached Ford in a Munich hotel on Tuesday and asked him to contribute 20,000,000 marks (about $4,600,000) to the Fascist movement, Ford declined.

It was recalled that some eight years ago, before Ford discontinued his anti-semitic campaign, the Fascists in Germany claimed he had added them financially. The Fascist party is anti-Semitic.

INDIANAPOLIS 4-H MEMBERS TO EXHIBIT IN WAR ON GAMBLERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 24.—UP—Ninety-one persons were arrested on gaming and liquor charges late today when police began a widespread cleanup of Indianapolis.

The raids were the police answer to accusations that the city was "wide open" and that patrolmen were involved in corruption and bribery.

The raids began suddenly and before 5 o'clock eleven alleged gambling houses and speak-easies were visited by the police and closed.

The wholesale raiding was punctuated by gunfire when a squad car encountered a truck believed to be carrying liquor. The officers gave chase, shooting at the tires of the truck. The driver of the truck and his companion stopped and surrendered. A gallon of liquor was found.

The largest single raid was made by two policemen on the basement of the Hotel Edwards. Here 38 customers and a bookmaker were arrested.

The majority of the arrests were for frequenting gambling houses.

4-H MEMBERS TO EXHIBIT

BERKELEY, Sept. 23.—Members of 4-H Clubs, boys and girls who are interested in livestock projects in the state, will exhibit stock in the two fat stock shows to be held in California this fall and winter, according to W. G. Waterhouse, assistant state club leader for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

The first is the San Francisco Junior Livestock show, to be held in South San Francisco October 27, 28 and 29. The opening day has been designated 4-H Club day, and a division for 4-H Club members has been provided, with prizes for the winners. Club members from Nevada also will exhibit in this show. Sheep, cattle and hogs are to be exhibited.

The second show is the Fifth annual Christmas livestock show in Los Angeles Union stock yards. The dates will be November 29 to December 6, and the opening day is to be 4-H Club day.

The 4-H Club members' exhibit at the California state fair was particularly notable this year. Waterhouse points out, much of the stock winning not only in the club classes but in the open show as well. The barrow that won the state-wide pig feeding contest was made reserve grand champion bar-

Cribbage Game Calls Man Back To Seattle Jail

SEATTLE—Louis Gokovich was so anxious to return to jail that he paid the cost of air transportation from here to Bremerton, declaring that boats were too slow.

When sentenced to two months in the Kitsap county jail for violation of the national prohibition act, he declared he wanted to get back to the jail as quickly as possible.

"The last time I was there, I was released in the midst of a 10,000 point cribbage match, and I want to get back and win it."

DeMille while aboard his yacht Seaward in the Catalina channel, was thrown to the deck by a heavy sea and broke several bones in his toes.

It's AS EASY and natural to enjoy the fragrant mildness of a Camel Cigarette as it is to admire beauty when you see it.

Camels are made, and always have been made, for discriminating smokers—the people whose keen judgment unerringly selects the best. But that doesn't mean you have to be an expert to enjoy Camels! The delicate, mellow fragrance of those choice sun-ripened tobaccos is something that anybody can appreciate. Camels are naturally smooth and mild—never parched nor insipid.

Why is there such a swing to Camels? Because more and more smokers are learning the difference between true mildness and mere flatness. Give yourself the luxury of a cigarette that's always pleasant smoking.
